The details of the Lumpkin County homicide—An Elberton Fire—The Small-Pox Alarm—A Late Watermelon—A Crack Shot—Hawkinsville Navy—The Inman Mill.

ROCKFILL, Dawson county, January 29.—[Special.]—On last Friday there was a most cold blooded murder committed about five miles below here, in this county, upon the person of A. W. Mullins, a very peaceable citizen of this county, by a man calling himself F. S. Kaylar. He came to this county last summer, as he states, from Cartersville, since which time he has made his home with the deceased, and was engaged in looking for gold mines, and taking options to sell for parties owning such property. He and deceased got along very amicably until last Thursday, when Kaylar called upon Mullins to sign some papers, which he refused to do when some high words passed, which would have ended in a fight if they had not been prevented by Wm. A. Barrett. The deceased ordered him to remove from his house, which he did the same day, taking his trunk to Barrett's, after which he went to the house of A. J. Thomas and borrowed a rifle gun, as he stated to hunt wild turkeys. He returned at night to Thomas's and stayed all night, telling him that he had roasted some turkeys and intended trying to kill some of them next morning. Next morning he and Thomas started to W. H. Loope's to sign some papers about a trade between them, and Kaylar carried the gun, saying that he was going to look for the turkeys. They did not go to Loope's, but went through the woods to where the deceased, with some other man, was at work. Upon coming up to them Kaylar said to Williams that he had come for his pan and mortar. Mullins said that he had not paid for them and would not get them. Kaylar replied, yes I will get them—d—m you, raised the gun to his face and fired, he was carrying the gun cocked, killing Mullins instantly—the ball entering three inches below the right nipple and lodging in or near his heart. He did not speak after the shot and drew only one breath. Kaylar left immediately, carrying the gun with him, and is still at large; was seen near Cumming, Ga., on Saturday following. P. J. Clarke, notary public, and J. E. Chastain, justice of the peace, empaneled a jury of inquest composed of the following men: P. Strickland, foreman, G. W. Hulsey, J. H. Hayes, M. V. Wood, W. J. Barrett and A. R. Barrett, who returned a verdict in accordance with the above, charging Kaylar with murder. Description of Kaylar: About 5 feet 7 inches high, straight and erect black hair, black eyes, black mustache, very heavy weight—150 or 160 pounds, 35 or 40 years of age; had on, when he left, a grey, pretty well worn suit of jeans pants, grey color; of the other clothing not recollected; shoes nearly worn out. Since leaving his trunk has been examined, and in it were found two suits of clothes and some papers showing that he had formerly passed by the name of Johnson. He claims to be a native of Prussia; says he has been in America since he was 14 years of age. There is no doubt of his being a premeditated murder, and that he set out that morning intending to kill Mullins.

DALTON, February 3.—[Special.]—Married, at the residence of D. J. Oxford, two miles north of this place, Wednesday evening, the 8th, Rev. J. W. Lee officiating, Mr. Douglas Preyer to Miss Annie Steele, all of this county. A long and prosperous life to them.—The "Jarley wax works" entertainment presented at Trevelth hall last evening by the young people of this city was a grand success. The proceeds were to repair the confederate cemetery grounds near this place.—A valentine ball on the 14th of February is the coming event, which bids fair to be a very enjoyable occasion.—A. G. McKnight, of Montana territory, is a photographer at National.—Wagon roads leading to this place still are very bad, with good prospect of getting worse, as it rains almost every day.

GREENSBORO, February 2.—[Special.]—Joe Hutchinson and Emanuel Merritt, both colored, were sent to jail by Justice Griffin on yesterday for arson, committed last July by the burning of the dwelling of J. Walker. The discovery of the bedding and clothing in the possession of the above parties led to the arrest. They stand committed to await a trial before the superior court, to be held on the second Monday of next month.—Jim Irvin, colored, rifled the pockets of Major Greene of his money last night, and gave leg bail.—Dock Drake was found with a pistol on his person, and went to the lock-up last night for disorderly conduct.

ELBERTON, February 2.—[Special.]—A fire broke out yesterday morning in the female institute in this place, but was discovered and extinguished before much damage was done.—Extensive preparations are being made by the young men of this place for the "hop" on the 14th of this month. A special train will be run to accommodate visitors.—Business is extremely dull, but farm work is progressing satisfactorily, considering the recent unfavorable weather. The small grain crop is doing finely.

LEESBURG, February 1.—[Special.]—Several persons in this community have recently been vaccinated on account of a rumor put in circulation that there was a case of small-pox here which proved to be a false alarm.—Business is extremely dull, but farm work is progressing satisfactorily, considering the recent unfavorable weather. The small grain crop is doing finely.

What the Papers Say.

FOR FOREIGN.

Macon Telegraph.

Late yesterday afternoon Chief Hurley received a telegram from John Smith, city marshal of this place, stating that a man named John C. Courtney, charged with forgery, and who was expected to arrive on the train from Albany. The telegram described a slender young man, thin mustache, light clothes, cropped hair, decayed upper teeth and red hands. He was also to be recognized by wearing a double-breasted light-colored overcoat with rubber buttons, and an amethyst ring on his little finger. The description was given to Officers Wrye, Henderson and Harvey Fennel with instructions to watch the incoming trains and make the arrest. Accordingly, when the train from Albany came in the officers were on hand. A young man, apparently answering the description exactly with the exception that he had no overcoat, was spotted and the officers drew him out. The ring he wore was a cameo, and with the exception of the coat, was perfectly described in the telegram. The officers were convinced soon afterward that he was the man, and he was allowed to proceed, and so gentlemanly had he been treated by the officers that he did not enter a word of complaint at the detention or mistaken identity. When the Brunswick train came in, Officers Henderson and Fennel saw the right man and quietly arrested him. This event was not wholly unlooked for. He said he had got down pretty low in Thomsville and grew reckless. He admitted the forgery, and was loth to return to Thomsville, and said if he had any means of self-destruction would die before he'd return. The following is a note written by him to his father a few minutes before the train left on Wednesday: THOMASVILLE, Ga., February 1.—Dear Sir: I have this day forged your name for $50.00. You must not blame any one but your own ruined son, John Courtney. No one knows it but myself. I could not live where I was. I had rather die. You can run me down, I know, but I'll never be brought back to Thomas county ally of I am going to the navy. Good-bye. I leave in a few minutes for Savannah.

He was taken to the barracks immediately after arrival, and an officer from Thomsville will probably arrive this morning. He is a young man, scarcely over twenty, and, judging from his conversation, has been leading rather too fast a life.

FRUIT OF THE LOOM.

Columbus Enquirer.

Yesterday was a beautiful day, cold, crisp and healthy. It was a fitting time for the gathering of the expectant shareholders of the Eagle and Phenix mills, who, confidently, once a year, come forward to hear the officers of that sterling company tell of continued success. Yesterday was no exception to the rule, and numerous shareholders from this and adjoining states were in Columbus, and met in social and business intercourse at the office of the president of the Eagle and Phenix mills, on Wednesday, February 1st. The number of shares represented was about nine thousand, or nearly three-quarters of the stock. In another column we have found an itemized statement, giving accurately the status of the company's business. The president in a feeling manner referred to the death of the late Charles Green, of Savannah, a large shareholder and director of the company. Suitable resolutions were introduced by Hon. John Leabody and Mr. Alfred I. Young relative to the death of Mr. Green and W. E. Parramore, both of whom were staunch friends and large and consistent shareholders of this company. Referring to the statement we find the quick assets of the company to be in excess of all liabilities by a surplus of $99,413.65. The surplus as regards the public is now $2,000,000.89. The company has during the past year reduced their floating debt $75,550.78, and at the same time added new machinery, tools, etc., $16,178.42, and added to their construction account $30,138.45.

The profits of the year 1881 were—$302,000.89 from the directors declared two dividends each $3 share—75,000.00

To the reserve fund was added—$127,000.89

And credited to wear and tear and depreciation—$227,000.89

The unusual high waters of the winter of 1881 made the producing days of that year less than any in a great many years, but certainly the above showing will be ample to place the shareholders and add lustre to the management of this corporation.

The following board of directors was elected without opposition: N. T. Bussey, W. H. Young, F. W. Battle, A. I. Young, and Douglas Green.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, N. T. Bussey was elected president, and G. Gandy Jordan treasurer, for 1882.

THE SNAKE.

It seems that there is a halt in the purchase of a mill site for the Inman mill. The incorporators wanted a canal site, with a front of 1,200 feet on each side of the canal, above Curry's Summerville mill, and offered to pay $100 per acre for about thirty-three acres in the tract desired. The canal committee of council offered the new company a canal site of 700 feet on the river side of the canal, making fourteen acres, and 500 feet on the opposite side for operatives' houses, making nine acres, with the privilege of constructing a bridge across the canal, with the provision that the company build in two years a new mill on the site. This appears unsatisfactory to the Inman parties, and Mr. George Curry, with whom this matter is left, says that he would not advise the Inmans to do what he would not do himself. He says the canal site would not allow enough room for building a factory of $500,000 or $1,000,000 capital. He has for his mill a 600 feet front on both sides and considers the site offered by the city too small. The canal committee is not to sell all the available factory land to one company, but leave enough for one or two other factories. They consider twenty-three acres sufficient for any factory, saying they will have a canal front of 1,400 feet, but its operatives' houses only occupy twelve acres, and this corporation has a million dollars capital. The matter now is in some doubt and the contracting parties are disgraced.

A CRACK SHOT.

Columbus Enquirer.

Last night about 8 o'clock Northern Liberties enjoyed a lively sensation in the shape of a shooting affair, the parties to which were Willie Davidson and Ben Allen, both white. It appears that Ben Allen had been attempting to raise a difficulty with Davidson during the greater part of the afternoon, but the latter had avoided him. Last night they met at Willie's store, where Allen renewed his attacks upon Davidson, abusing him and attempting to strike him. Finally he drew a pistol, but parties interfered and he left him from the store into the back yard. Davidson then started to leave the store by the front door, when Allen jumped over the fence in the rear of the store and ran around to the front to meet him, with pistol in hand. Davidson was warned of Allen's movement by a friend and ran into the store and secured a double-barrel shotgun. He then returned to the front door and finding Allen still advancing, with pistol in hand, he fired at him, taking aim at the pistol, which glinted in the light of the moon. The lead took effect in the hand, mangleing it badly, and sent the pistol whirling thirty feet through the air. Allen then retreated as rapidly as possible and Davidson went back into the store, and afterwards gave himself up to an officer. He and his friends claim that the shooting was done purely in self-defense.

IS IT MEASLES OR SMALL-POX.

Rome Courier.

The gentleman who received a letter Wednesday from Oxford stating that a negro in Dunn's camp, six miles from Oxford on the Georgia Pacific, had small-pox, received another letter yesterday from the same place saying that another negro in the same camp had broken out, but that Dr. Glasgow, the attending physician, was in doubt as to whether the negroes have small-pox or measles, he having never seen a genuine case of the former. The writer also stated that the negroes of that camp had scattered in all directions, fleeing from the disease. Upon enquiry being made yesterday a reporter learned that the people of Rome are slow to realize their danger, and few were being vaccinated. As to the efficiency of vaccination there can be no doubt. It amounts almost to a perfect preventive as thousands of instances testify. Captain A. J. Little, of this city, said yesterday that during the war, he, with two hundred and nineteen other confederates, were in prison, guarded by twenty yankees. All the confederates had been vaccinated, but the guards had not. Smallpox broke out among the twenty guards and three-fourths of the number were stricken down, yet not one man from the entire two hundred and twenty prisoners took the disease.

HAWKINSVILLE DISPATCH.

The steamer Mary Flier left Hawkinsville for Savannah Saturday afternoon last, having on board about three hundred bales of cotton and a quantity of fertilizers and merchandise. The worth she had about six hundred dollars worth of freight, and will take on her return from Savannah about four hundred dollars more. The round trip will pay about one thousand dollars. The boat will reach Savannah to-day, and will probably return to Hawkinsville by Tuesday or Wednesday next. The owners of the boat calculate on making round trips to Savannah in from eight to ten days, and a thousand dollar worth of freight, and will take on her return from Savannah, as the expenses are now reduced to less than three hundred dollars per month. The boat is now owned by four parties—D. McCortree, J. O. Jekes & Co., P. C. Clegg & Co., and R. G. Lewis—who bought the boat from the board of directors for a very low price. The owners took a ride down the river on Saturday within a few miles of Abbeville, and returned by private conveyance. They say the speed of the boat is about sixteen miles per hour, down stream.

OUR DAY WATERMELONS.

Hawkinsville Dispatch.

We have received from Mr. Boothie Adams, of Dodge county, a couple of fine watermelons, brought to our office on Saturday last by Mr. A. T. Powell. These melons were raised in the open season since the first of December, and one of them weighs twenty-two pounds. If any of the readers of the Dispatch doubt this statement, all they have to do is to call at our office and see the melons. This has indeed been a remarkably mild winter.

"That may be," replies the sub, "but you may depend upon it that it won't be your cook I'll marry!"—French Wit.

Wonderful Power.

When a medicine performs such cures as Kidney-Wort is constantly doing, it must truly be said to have wonderful powers. A carpenter in Montgomery, Va., had suffered for eight years from the worst of kidney diseases, and had been wholly incapacitated for work. He says, "One box made a new man of me, and I am now better than I have been for years. I am now in good health and all that is similarly afflicted." It is now sold in both liquid and dry form.—Danbury News.

The most potent remedy to stop the spread of this great scourge is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which is ready for use at all times. Persons are liable at any moment to "catch" the disease, and should get the Pills at once and use it freely about, as places cannot be detected where the fluid is used. Persons attending the sick or in other ways exposed to the disease will be protected by its free use.

An albatross has recently established for his species a new claim to the reverence and gratitude of sailors. A specimen on a vessel bound for Australia flew aboard on a stormy day into a raging sea and no one hoped to save him. But, as the man rose to the surface, close beside him was an albatross, around whose neck he threw his arms, and thus with much flapping and floundering and strange conversation between man and bird, as the Echo remarks, he held on until he was lifted into a boat by a crew of sailors. A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

MRS. BUSH'S

SPECIFIC CURE

BURNS, SCALDS,

SPASMODIC CROUP.

Discovery and History of Mrs. Bush's Specific.

This is what gave rise to this great remedy: My little daughter was burned on the chest with a hot egg. We tried all the burn remedies, and had the best physicians' counsel, and all did the child no good. In fact, her face was a running sore, wherever the mucus from the face would fall on the child it would blister. I had almost despaired, when I dropped the doctor's medicine and resorted to the vegetable kingdom. I compounded this remedy and applied it to my little daughter. Late in the evening she went to sleep. Next morning I found that the scabs from the burn did not come off as before. I kept her face well greased for 5 or 6 days, when the scabs came off and left her face perfectly smooth and without a scar. Seeing what effect it had on my daughter, I gave some to my neighbors and county friends, and you will see below what my county physicians and friends think of it.

Athens, Ga., March 15, 1877.

I have used Mrs. Bush's Remedy for Burns, and take pleasure in recommending it to the public as the best application to ordinary injuries of that sort that I know of, affording almost immediate and permanent relief.

H. HULL, M. D.

Atlanta, Ga., August 20, 1881.

I take pleasure in recommending Mrs. Bush's Specific as the best article I know of for burns and scalds. My daughter was one of those unfortunate young ladies who were so badly burned by a hot iron, and it was this year, and Mrs. Bush's Specific gave her instant relief from pain, and materially hastened her cure without leaving a scar. As a rule I give out proprietary medicines, but this I know to be good, and it would be but stubborn bigotry for me to withhold testimony in favor of that which relieved the anxiety of myself and wife on account of the severe burns of our only daughter.

W. C. BELLAMY, M. D.

Atlanta, Ga., January 21, 1879.

Mr. Wyley M. Bush or Mrs. Bush, Jug Tavern, Ga. Dear Sir: I send you enclosed $5, for which I wish you to ship me another $5 box of your medicine. I have recently had some experience with it in a severe case of burn, and it has acted admirably. I desire to keep a supply all the while.

Yours truly, etc.,

JOSEPH E. BROWN.

Waco, Ky., Nov. 1st, 1870.

I have had Rheumatism, or severe pain in my right knee, for twenty years. For three or four years past the knee has swollen, the skin hardened, with knots in the joints. The pain was so intense I could not step. I tried both feet and legs burned severely. I thought the flesh would all drop off. I procured a bottle of Mrs. Bush's Burn Specific, which gave the child immediate relief, and healed the parts entirely in a few days, leaving no scar whatever. I believe it to be the best burn medicine in the world.

This is to certify that my child, about twenty months of age, while playing in the yard ran into a heap of hot ashes and fire that was being removed from the fire place, and both feet and legs burned severely. I thought the flesh would all drop off. I procured a bottle of Mrs. Bush's Burn Specific, which gave the child immediate relief, and healed the parts entirely in a few days, leaving no scar whatever. I believe it to be the best burn medicine in the world.

A NATION NO MORE.

THE LAST OF THE MIAMIS AS A TRIBE.

The Miami Indians, Years Ago, Exchanged Their Perpetual Annuity for a Round Sum, to be Paid in Yearly Installments—They "Sold Their Birthright"—Last Payment Made.

WARREN, Ind., February 3.—The Hon. Calvin C. Smith, government paymaster, to-day finished paying off the Miami Indians, payment being made to representatives of the tribe.

This payment is the final one under the second treaty made with this tribe. This treaty was accomplished during the administration of President Pierce, when Indian Commissioner Mendenhall met the three chiefs, Peony-takma, Big Legs, and Meshin-go-mesha, and engaged in a "big talk," which resulted in the tribe selling their birthright, so to speak, or, in other words, exchanging the perpetual annuity to which they were entitled under the treaty made years before for the round sum of $221,000, payable in twenty-six years, with the interest in annual payments. This sum, with one year's interest, makes up the payment now made, and with it the great father at Washington lifts from the Miami tribe the fostering hand with which he has fed and maintained them for so many years.

Toward the close of last year a number of the most prominent representatives of the tribe now living met here upon call and compared notes. The census roll of the pure descendants of the signers of the treaty disclosed that of the mighty tribe, which numbered its warriors by the thousands a half century ago, only 321 living souls can now lay claim to the name Miami, and the share of each in this last distribution is only about $700. When this money is spent, and the few farms still held by them of the old reservation are sold, the Miami tribe, as a tribe, will be no more. The Miami nation is no more.

It is within the memory of many of our pioneers when this famous tribe, now almost extinct, roamed at will over these fertile valleys, and claimed them as their own. About the year 1840 the first treaty was effected, and the various bands scattered widely. A small collection of a large tract of land at Quapaw agency, I. T. A. still remain in the vicinity of Napoleon, Ohio; other small groups can be found in counties of this state, and a grandson of old Meshin-go-mesha, the Miami nation's last chief, lives with his family at Fontana, Kan. His name is Malip-wan, or "The White Lion," and he has a wide reputation upon the frontier as an interpreter.

The Miami, at the time their savage life was first disturbed by the white man in this part of the country, occupied the territory for about thirty miles from the river, and lying between Lafayette and Fort Wayne. Their neighbors upon the north were the Potawatomi, that warrior tribe so famous in the early struggles upon the frontier. Millions of acres of the finest land ever tilled by man were there, but within fifty years treaties and trades have deprived them of all except the few little farms which will soon pass from their possession forever.

The Miami nation is no more. A portrait of Mrs. Mary Williams, is also given who will be remembered as the lady that originated the idea of dedicating the graves of the soldiers, and it was through her efforts that this beautiful custom and fitting tribute to the dead of the war has become universal, and never will be forgotten. Whether he be the blue or the gray, owes to her a debt of gratitude for this mark of respect and love that keeps the memory of their gallant deeds fresh in the minds of the people. Mrs. Williams died at Columbus, Ga., in April, 1874, and so great was the esteem in which she was held by the people, she was buried with military honors—and on recurring memorial days, special pains are taken to decorate her grave with the choicest and loveliest flowers.

A portrait of Colonel Charles H. Smith, (Bill Arp) the southern humorist, is also given. Colonel Smith is a cousin of Mrs. Williams, and enjoys her highest esteem. Colonel Arp's book is a brilliant epic of the stirring times and momentous events of the great war—and an eloquent tribute to the worth and valiance of the statesmen and soldiers of the state—as well as a reliable compilation of valuable statistical and military information, valuable to the general reader; and is an exceedingly well written and interesting work. The talented author in presenting Mrs. Picklin with a copy of his valuable work wrote on the fly-leaf the following touching tribute of respect to the memory of Mrs. Picklin's father, who many years ago ably represented his state in the United States senate, and her brother the present accomplished governor of the state, as follows:

To Lizzie H. Picklin: The daughter of the most brilliant public man Georgia has ever known, and the sister of Governor A. H. Colquhoun, whose administration fills a glorious portion of this book; with the sincere esteem and best wishes of the author.

Humbugged Again. I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife who was always doctoring and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months' use of the Bitters, my wife was cured, and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging—H. T. St. Paul—Pioneer Press.

LOCAL TIN-TYPES.

FROM OUR REPORTER'S POCKET CAMERAS.

Yesterday in the City—What was Done and Said by Home-Boys and Strangers—The Oursip of the Town as Taken on the Fly—In and About the Courts and Departments.

FAILURE.—Dun & Co's mercantile agency report the failure of Clements & Petty, general merchants, at Conyers, Ga.

AT BUTT'S COURT.—Mollie Davis was carried before Justice Butt yesterday for trial upon a charge of larceny. The case was dismissed.

Dr. Hoyte will preach to-night in the First Presbyterian church, and twice on Sabbath. The meeting will probably continue during next week.

CONCEALED WEAPONS.—Yesterday Thomas Shields was before Justice Pitchford charged with carrying concealed weapons. He was bound over in a bond of $50.

BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER.—Stephen Dodson, of Campbell county, was before Commissioner Smith yesterday charged with illicit distilling and working in an illicit distillery. He was required to give a bond of $500.

SAD NEWS.—Mr. Tim Murphy, the Atlanta agent of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railway company, yesterday received a letter from Ireland announcing the death of his father, which occurred a few weeks ago in county Cork. Mr. Murphy was over one hundred years of age.

SET AT LIBERTY.—Mack Cannon was before Justice Tanner yesterday for a preliminary trial on a charge of whipping his wife. A peace warrant had also been sworn out against him. After hearing the evidence Justice Tanner set him at liberty as the facts would not warrant sending him to jail.

UNDER BOND.—Yesterday Jack Dudley, Thomas Malone and George W. Smith were before Justice Pitchford charged with aiding prisoners in escaping from the city stockade. They were each required to give bond in the sum of $500 to appear before the superior court. The charge against them is felony in aiding prisoners to escape.

SMALL-POX.—That a number of inquiries may be answered please insert the following: Cow-pox, or vaccinia, is a disease of the cow, involving in man fever, eruption and scars similar to those of small-pox. This inoculation was accidentally discovered by Jenner over a hundred years ago. Vaccination, then, is the process by which the disease, vaccinia, is artificially introduced into the human system for the purpose of protecting it against small-pox. The objection to vaccination from the fear of a human being is this: The danger of incorporating into the human system with the vaccine such diseases as scrofula, syphilis, or any constitutional taint. Eruptions, swollen glands, inflamed or sore eyes are evidence of the presence of some of these abnormal conditions, to a greater or less extent. It is impossible for any surgeon to determine positively that there is no disease latent or otherwise lying dormant in the system. The only safe way is to secure the vaccine virus from those who make it a business to get it from the cow.

A. D. BELLAMY, M.D.

IT IS RUMORED.—That Sam Hill is keeping a saloon in New Orleans.

That General Tombs has been offered $50,000 a year as a retainer to act as attorney for the combined railroad interests of Georgia.

That if Guiton on ice fills an engagement in Atlanta he will have a larger house than Patti would have had she sung here.

That the removal of the vaccination office for colored people to the Wilson house, corner of the port of Atlanta, materially lessened the number of applications for vaccination.

That a movement is on foot to move it again.

That the next governor of Georgia was in the city yesterday.

That he comes here quite often.

That Pledger will revive his paper here in a few days.

That a shaking up in the political bonnyard will occur within the next week.

That an Atlanta journalist is to be collector of the port of Atlanta.

IT IS TRUE.—That General Tombs thinks the Gaiter verdict was just.

That the bad weather materially interferes with the vaccination office by keeping ladies and children in doors.

That the scheme to move the police headquarters to the Williamson building was pronounced a good one by many people yesterday.

That Judge Hillier and Judge Clarke have very few of their decisions reversed.

That all the mud will be dust this summer.

That the people have ceased to talk of the exposition.

A DISPUTED MATTER.—Atlanta, February 3.—Editors Constitution: The rumor you refer to in this morning's issue of the sale of the former site of the Wilson house, corner of Alabama and Pryor streets, to the Gate City National bank, is incorrect as to the statement that "the purchase was made by the president in the presence of Mr. Anthony Murphy." The true facts are as follows: I proposed to sell a part of the Wilson house lot to Mr. Murphy for a certain named sum. Mr. Murphy asked until the next day to consult with other parties, which was granted. Within an hour or two after this conversation, which was very brief and hurried, Mr. Murphy came to me, accompanied by Colonel L. J. Hill, president of the Gate City National bank, who said he would take the property. I replied that inasmuch as there were two leases upon the property, and another matter, that I wished to reconcile, I was not prepared to close the sale until the next morning. On the next morning I promptly informed Colonel Hill that the difficulties laid before him on the previous day were insurmountable, the parties to whom I had leased refusing to sell out, and regretted my inability to close the trade with him. The above are the simple facts. Nothing more. Nothing less. B. J. Wilson.

A SUGGESTION AS TO THE STREETS.—Please allow a suggestion concerning the streets. All will agree that something should be done, and that soon, to relieve us of the horrible condition in which many of our thoroughfares are now in. If we wait until the mud dries up the subject will be forgotten and another winter, in all probability, will be a repetition of this. But my plan—is it this: Plank all the principal streets with three inch plank. It would not cost one-fourth of what macadam would, and we would have streets that it would be a pleasure to drive on, and the harder the rain the cleaner the streets would be, for, with proper surface drainage, a slight rain would cleanse them thoroughly. The saving in vehicles alone would pay one half the cost in one year. To be sure it would not last more than eight or ten years, but suppose it would have to be replaced in six years, then it would be the cheapest pavement that could be laid. Many of the cities of the Pacific coast have plank streets, and the people there prefer them above all others. Mobile and New Orleans also have several of their streets planked, and although the climate is very damp and unfavorable for such, they last six to eight years. Many towns in the west have these roads, leading for miles into the country, over much the same kind of soil we have here. Then let us not wait for macadam, granite or cobble stones, but begin at once and make streets that any city might feel proud of. J. P. B.

PERRY DAVIS PAIN KILLER

Diphtheria

A cold or sore throat may not seem to amount to much, and if promptly attended to can easily be cured; but neglect is often followed by consumption or diphtheria. No medicine has ever been discovered which acts so quickly and surely in such cases as PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER. The prompt use of this invaluable remedy has saved thousands of lives. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is not an experiment. It has been before the public for forty years, and is most valued where it is best known. A few extracts from voluntary testimonials read as follows:

For whooping-cough and croup it is the best preparation made. We would not be without it.—A. F. RUTTER, Liberty Mills, Va.

For twenty-five years I have used PAIN KILLER for colds and croup, and consider it the best medicine ever offered.—Geo. HOOVER, Wilmington, N. C.

I was suffering severely with bronchitis, and my throat and chest were so sore that I could scarcely swallow any food. I was advised to try your PAIN KILLER, and after taking a few doses was completely cured.—WILLIAMSON.

Dr. WALTON writes from Colchester: Your PAIN KILLER cures diphtheria and croup, and is a most valuable preventive, and has not been known to fail in a single instance. This fact you should make known to the world.

My son was taken violently sick with diphtheria, high fever, and cold. He was taken on Sunday, and on Wednesday his throat was clear. It was a wonderful cure, and I am very much indebted to the poor mothers who are losing so many children.

For Chills and Fever, PAIN KILLER has no equal. It cures when everything else fails. It is a most valuable remedy. A bottle of PAIN KILLER in the house is a safeguard that no family should be without. All druggists sell it at 25 cents a bottle.

CITY COURT.—The city court met yesterday at 10 a.m., Judge, presiding.

In the case of Robert Martin, charged with larceny from the house, a verdict of guilty was rendered and notice of motion for a new trial given.

John Wheeler and John Alexander were tried on a charge of stealing cognac from Hutchinson & Bro. They were convicted and sentenced to six months.

George Thomas was tried on a charge of stealing oranges from A. McD. Wilson. He was found guilty and sentenced to three months.

James Sterling was tried and convicted of carrying concealed weapons and sentenced to pay $5 or serve three months.

In the case of Delia Varner and Ida Thomas, charged with larceny from the house, a verdict of not guilty was allowed by consent.

A Healthy State.

People are constantly changing their homes from east to west and from north to south for vice versa, in search of a healthy state. If they would learn to be contented and use the celebrated Kidney-Wort when sick they would be much better off. The whole system can be kept in a healthy state by this simple but effective remedy. A DESPERADO DEAD.

WILEY REDDING CLAIMED TO HAVE BEEN KILLED.

The Career and Crimes of the Most Notorious Criminal Atlanta Ever Produced—His Brush with the Police, and His Vigilance in Avoiding an Arrest by Them.

No little commotion was created in Atlanta yesterday morning by an announcement of the killing of the celebrated Wiley Redding, at Fairburn Thursday night.

The first intelligence of the killing was brought to THE CONSTITUTION in the shape of a special from Fairburn. It read:

FAIRBURN, Ga., February 3, 1882.—Wiley Redding, colored, was killed here last night about 11 o'clock by Joe Brantley, first, who stopped him and the second shot killed him almost instantly. Wiley is a robust colored man, and has long been wanted by the Atlanta police.

When the contents of the telegram became public, Wiley Redding and his checkered career were brought forward and discussed by all who knew him.

For the past twelve years Wiley has been wanted by the city of Atlanta and by the state of Georgia, for sundry violations of city and state laws, but so well posted was he in the movements of the officers that he eluded arrest until he had gained a reputation equal to that of the James and Younger boys.

Wiley's criminal record began in 1868. Some time during that year he was arrested, charged with arson in Campbell county, and upon this charge was tried and sentenced to the chain-gang for twenty years, but after serving about two years he was pardoned by Governor Bullock. He then came to Atlanta where his sister and brother were living, and where he remained until sent back to the penitentiary for another offense.

During his sojourn in Atlanta, Wiley worked the town for all it was worth. He knew every dark alley and good hiding place in the city. He was thoroughly acquainted with the police force, and knew their beats, hours of duty, habits, ability, etc., and governed himself accordingly.

In 1872 Wiley was arrested by Captain Couch, then a patrolman, upon a warrant charging him with burglary. Long before his arrest upon this warrant he had been booked as one of the biggest thieves, boldest burglars and most desperate men in the south, and his arrest was a source of great gratification to the people generally, who were loud in their thanks to the policeman who had the courage to tackle him.

The grand jury that convened soon after Wiley's arrest found about a dozen true bills against him. The indictments were for burglaries, larceny from the house, larceny from the person, gaming, clearing and harboring, assault with intent to murder and arson, and at the next session of the superior court he was arraigned for trial.

The evidence against him was conclusive, and Wiley was again sentenced to the chain-gang for twenty years. At the conclusion of the trial, and just before the prisoner was taken from the jail, he created quite a sensation by rising in the prisoners' dock, and abusing Judge Hopkins, before whom he was tried, to everything he could think of and by threatening to kill him for his part in the trial.

On the way to jail he repeated his threats and swore that he would use every exertion to escape in order to kill Judge Hopkins and Captain Couch. Shortly after his trial Wiley was turned over to Grant, Alexander & Co., and by them worked on their railroad contracts. Soon after being assigned to these lessees Wiley made an effort to escape, but was shot through the head by a guard and recaptured. The wound was a bad one and for quite a while the convict's death was daily expected, but after many days of illness he began to recover, and when well was returned to work.

The first day he was out after his wound had healed he met Colonel Alexander, one of the lessees, who, knowing his prisoner's desperate character, said to him: "Wiley, you have been shot for trying to get away. I have nothing against you, but you have been turned over to me for safe keeping, and I am going to keep you; so if you value your life don't try to get away again."

"All right, Mars Tom," Wiley replied, "I won't try to get away from you any more, but if they turn me over to any one else I am gone," and Wiley kept his word for as long as he was with Grant, Alexander & Co. he behaved himself better than he ever did before, or has ever since.

Some time after this, Wiley with other convicts, was turned over to the Duke county county jail. Here he remained about one year. He was released, and came back to Atlanta where he was located by the police who tried to catch him but without success. Several rewards were offered for him, and at one time Wiley Redding was worth $50,000 to any one who could capture him. He knew the police were hunting him and always slept with one eye open. He went armed to the teeth, and many a time held the life of a would-be captor in his hand. The knowledge of the price that was on his head did not trouble him for by some means he learned of every plan that was laid for his capture, and always succeeded in eluding the officers.

All the members of the police force who exerted themselves to catch Wiley Captain Couch took the lead. He was attacked in his efforts by the big reward and partly by the threats Wiley had made against him.

The many narrow escapes the convict made the vicissitudes of his career during this time would fill volumes. On one occasion the police learned that Wiley was in a house on Decatur street, and in a short time Captain Couch, with a half dozen aids were upon him. The house was surrounded and entered, but Wiley could not be found. The officers were about to leave the room, when Captain Couch noticed a big trunk in one corner. It was covered with bed clothes, and in the officer's mind afforded a good hiding place. He approached the trunk, and throwing the bedding aside raised the lid and found Wiley within. As soon as the lid was raised Wiley jumped from his hiding place, and with a pistol in each hand fought his way clear. Several shots were fired at him in the house, and a perfect fusillade followed him as he ran from the yard, but Wiley escaped unhurt.

Again he was found in a house near the city. He was on Hunter street. When the house was surrounded and as two men were creeping towards it, a large negro jumped through the door and broke for the woods. The police thought it was Wiley and with a shot at every step, followed him until he fell to the ground. A light was then brought and the discovery made that the dead man—for he was dead, pierced by a dozen bullets—was not Wiley. Subsequently it was ascertained that Wiley was in the house at the time and that he remained there until the officers found him. A patrolman, who had agreed to lead them away in order to allow Wiley to escape.

About five years ago Officer Simpson, then a patrolman, saw Wiley face to face on Peters street and at once tried to capture him. There was a hot fight and Wiley got away. During the fight both Wiley and the officers were wounded.

Once Captain Couch came upon him near the barracks. Wiley did not see the policeman until his hand was upon him, but he turned and said: "We will now see who is the best man," and drawing his pistol he attempted to shoot the officer. Captain Couch grabbed the pistol and by hard work kept the muzzle from his body as it was discharged. He finally drew his own revolver and fired at Wiley.
